COGNACS AND COGNACS.

WITH the continued importations of Spirits under the name of WHISKY made from common raw grain, and the difficulty the consumer has in discriminating between the genuine and spurious article, the demand during the past few years that has existed for Whiskies is abating, and GOOD BRANDIES are again gradually asserting their former position, so much so that in England at the moment it is more difficult to BUY GENUINE BRANDIES than it is to SELL them.

We quote for our own selected BRANDS as follows and invite comparison in qualities and prices:—

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 20.

THE only movement in the London Stock Exchange quotations of yesterday was a decline of ¼ in Consols to 99½, which may be taken as a mere market fluctuation, attributable to no very distinct cause. At all events, there seems no special reason on the surface of things, so far as the telegrams enable us to judge, money being still on the downward tendency.

In the General Produce markets, Seeds and Wheat are reported unchanged. Coffee is 1s. per cwt. higher. The Liverpool Wool sales opened yesterday without quotable change, the number of bales offered being 15,000.

Cotton in Liverpool yesterday was quieter again, the day's sales being only estimated at 6,000 bales, including 700 Surats. Spot prices are unaltered, but Americans to arrive are partially 1-64d. higher. In New York there is no change, 10⅛ cents. for ready Mid-Uplands and 10·91 for August shipment being still the quotations.

Respecting our local market for the staple, it is difficult to find any special feature to notice. Absence of demand is still the leading characteristic, and sellers are only able to support rates by declining exchange and the limited extent of the supplies. Quotations are :—

| | Good. | Fully Good | Fine. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Broach | Rs. 209 | Rs. 216 | Rs. 222. |
| Dholleras | ,, 201 to 202 | ,, 206 | ,, 210. |
| Omras | ,, 193 | ,, 198 | ,, ..... |

WHEAT maintains the same position. Exporters are but moderate buyers, while sellers being well under contract do not reduce their prices. No. 1 Soft White we still quote at Rs. 3-12½, No. 1 Club Delhi at Rs. 3-9 per cwt.

SEEDS generally are rather firmer. Linseed we quote at Rs. 5-12 bazaar, Rs. 5-13½ railway terms. For Rapeseed there is decidedly more inquiry, and Guzerat Yellow has advanced to Rs. 6, Cawnpore to Rs. 5-13 per cwt.

FREIGHTS.—The market is still very quiet, shippers exhibiting considerable caution in their engagements. A steamer is reported berthed for Havre, June loading, at 26s. 3d., and the following are current rates for the different ports :—

| | Ready. | Forward. |
|---|---|---|
| Liverpool ready... | 26s. 3d. to 27s. 6d. | 27s. 6d. |
| Open Charter .... | 27s. 6d. to 28s. | 27s. 6d. |
| Havre | 28s. 9d. | 27s. 6d. |
| Antwerp | 28s. 9d. | 27s. 6d. |
| Marseilles | 35s. | 35s. |
| Trieste-Venice | 42s. 6d. | 42s. 6d. to 45d. |

MONEY.—The directors of the Bank of Bombay at their weekly board meeting this afternoon reduced their rates of discount 2 per cent., making the minimum for demand loans secured by Government paper 7 per cent. per annum. A reduction of 3 per cent. in two days is somewhat unusual, and speaks for itself as to the position of the market, present and prospective.

EXCHANGE this morning opened weak, and for a time 1s. 7 1-32d. was quoted for 3 months' Credits. No business, however, so far as we can learn, was done at the rate, and when sellers came out, as they did pretty freely, during the forenoon, 1s. 7 3-32d. was the best obtainable. The feeling, indeed, was decidedly firm, but any material recovery was checked by the decline in the Bank of Bombay's rates of discount ; while to-morrow we shall be guided by the result of the biddings for Council drafts in London to-day, regarding which opinion is somewhat unsettled. Closing rates are :—

|---|---|
| Bank Bills on demand | 1s. 6 27-32d. per Rupee. |
| Do. Telegraphic | 1s. 6 25 32d. ,, |
| Do. Three months' sight | 1s. 6 15-16d. ,, |
| Credits ,, ,, | 1s 7 31-32d. ,, |
| France ,, ,, | 2 01½ ,, |

GOVERNMENT PAPER in the early morning showed rather a quiet tone, Rs. 95½ to Rs. 95⅞ for cash, and Rs. 95⅞ for June delivery, being the quoted figures for Fours. The drop in the value of money, however, brought out buyers, and at the close Fours for cash at Rs. 96½, for 30th May Rs. 96, and for June Rs. 95⅞. Fours-and-a-half we call Rs. 99.

SHARES are active under the influence of easier money, and in the leading Spinning and Weaving Mills an advance of Rs. 5 is again quoted. Bombay-Burmah Trading Co.'s shares have advanced to Rs. 4,000, Kemp and Co., Ld., are up to Rs. 325. Port Cannings have receded to Rs. 327½.

TRIALS FOR MURDER.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, MAY 20.

Oswald Enge, placed on trial before the Sessions Judge of Burdwan for murder, has been found guilty of culpable homicide not amounting to murder by a majority of three against two. This morning he was sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment. He intends appealing to the German Consul and the High Court. Three cooly women, whose evidence tended to criminate him on the graver charge of murder, are to be tried for perjury at the instance of the judge. This has caused general surprise, as it was on their allegations that the kidnapping of a case had been made out against the prisoner.

Rowandass Babajee, a religious mendicant, who was tried at the present Criminal Sessions of the High Court for the murder of a native woman, also a mendicant, was sentenced by Mr. Justice Beverley to suffer the extreme penalty of the law. The murder was committed in July last, and Rowandass would have eluded justice altogether had not a strange fatality led him to visit the village where he first met his victim years ago, to inquire after her daughter.

THE HARBOUR DEFENCES OF CALCUTTA.

On Monday last the Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by General Wilkinson and some engineer officers, went down the river to a station below Diamond Harbour, where it is contemplated to build a fort. At this station the party landed, and closely inspected the details of the fort already there.

Two subjects are engaging the immediate attention of the Government, namely, measures to be adopted for the permanent defence of the port and its approaches from the Bay of Bengal, and those which are to be taken in hand immediately should war unexpectedly break out. A committee is to be held immediately to take into consideration the report on the entire question of defences.

News has come of the burst of the monsoon yesterday morning at Colombo.

H. H. ZEL-E-SULTAN, the eldest son of H. H. the Shah of Persia, is evidently a great favourite with the Zoroastrians of Persia. Some time ago an agent of Messrs. Godrez Mehrban & Co., of Teheran, was proceeding to Kurmansha with specie, when he was attacked by a number of freebooters, who carried away Rs. 6,000 in gold and silver coins. The head of the firm in Teheran represented their case to the Shah's son, who at once commanded the governor of the province to institute inquiries, and having traced the looters, recovered the plunder, the full amount of which was paid to Messrs. Godrez's agent at Shiraz.

THE other day a passenger returning to Salsette (Goa) in a boat was murdered off the port of Marmagoa by the boatmen, who have been arrested. Instances like these are increasing day by day, and the Correio de Goa thinks it high time that passengers should have better protection from the cupidity of these villainous boatmen.

THE Vara of Bassim, on behalf of 17,000 Catholics belonging to the Portuguese jurisdiction, have sent a telegram to the Pope, asking for the preservation of the Padroado. With the same object in view, a petition to the Holy Father is being circulated among the Catholics at Bassim, which it is expected some 18,000 persons will sign. We also hear that the number of Catholics who have already signified their adherence to the Padroado amounts to one lakh.

MONDAY, the 25th instant, being the day selected for the celebration of the Queen's birthday, the troops in garrison will assemble on the General Parade-ground at 6 p.m., and be formed up in line facing west at twelve paces interval. An Imperial salute of 31 guns will be fired by the Royal Artillery.

IT is among the things not generally known that in case of a war with Russia the Government of India will be able to place in the field, if it wants to, a corps of Amazons. The Pioneer says that writing to the Viceroy and Governor General of India on the 23rd April, a patriotic declaration of readiness to place all her resources and herself at the service of Government, Her loyal Highness the Dowager Maharani Jumna Bae of Baroda makes the following devoted and unprecedented tender:—"The fighting capabilities and horsemanship of the Maharatti ladies can be no secret to your Excellency; and I hope that the offer which I make, and which I am prepared to carry out at the shortest notice, will be accepted by your Excellency, and that it will prove a precedent to the ladies of India and England, and will show how powerless with which the race of females capable of bearing arms can fight side by side with the military forces of the Empire."

SIRDAR ATA-ULLA KHAN, the Envoy to Kabul, will receive the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, as was the case on a previous occasion with Afzul Khan.

LATEST news from Afghanistan states that Colonel Stewart, Major Holdich, and Lieutenant Talbot have arrived at Herat and were civilly received there. They are making a thorough inspection of the defences. Other officers of the Commission were moving freely about the country, showing that good relations had been again established with the Afghans.

A MEETING of Royal Engineers, presided over by Colonel McLeod Innes, was held at Simla last week in connection with the Gordon Memorial, the object being to furnish local opinion to the committee at home as to the form which the Royal Engineer Memorial should take. A resolution was passed in favour of a statue in London, it being believed that the National Memorial would take the form of a charitable institution.

THE restrictions upon military furlough and leave in India have, it is stated, been reimposed. The 72 hours' rule, it may be noted, was only cancelled a few days ago. A general order notifies that all leave granted to officers to visit Kashmere is cancelled.

IF we are to believe the Pioneer, Lord Kimberley, when he spoke of a plan for the defence of India having been already matured and agreed upon in case of war with Russia, extending from Peshawar to the Indus Valley, was only indulging in generalities which doubtless served the Government purpose of the hour. The Allahabad paper says that certainly no plan of defence has been yet prepared and approved in India, except that connected with the frontier railways and military roads.

THE death is announced of Mr. John Fitz-Thomas Rutherford, the recently appointed Secretary of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and Bonded Warehouse Association. The deceased, who was only 46 years of age, was formerly a members of the firm of Messrs. Hoare, Miller, and Co., and only took up his appointment on the 1st of March last. The cause of death was fever.

THE reorganisation of the Volunteer force in India seems likely to be rapidly carried out. Henceforth, we are told, it will probably consist of an Active and a Reserve force, the former under the direct control of the chief military authorities, who have matured a scheme under which the Reserves will be formed of men who have done at least three years' active volunteering, and of others too far removed from large stations to join the Active force. They would each receive a rifle without bayonet, with fifty rounds of ball ammunition yearly, and be expected to show fair proficiency in target practice at short ranges before receiving the capitation grant, the amount of which has yet to be fixed. The formation of the Reserve will not be allowed to interfere in any way with the present Active force, to which men will be encouraged in every way to enlist.

IN refusing to believe the report of the advance of the Russians to Maruchak, for which it was "abused through all the moods and tenses," the Pall Mall Gazette has scored against its more credulous contemporaries, and very justly so in the performance. "We were met," it says, "by an indignant outcry." "What can you mean by doubting General Lumsden's word? Did he not report first the occupation of Maruchak, and then refer incidentally to the Russians as having recently occupied that place?" We have never doubted General Lumsden's word. We have never in any way whatever denied his perfect honesty, or hinted a suspicion as to his absolute accuracy. All that we did was to point out that he might very easily be mistaken, owing to the fact that he was 140 miles away, and that the rumour might arise very naturally from a simple misunderstanding. Yesterday General Lumsden once more proved to be a very Daniel come to judgment. His despatch "Afghan express just in declares report of Russian occupation of Maruchak quite unfounded" completely vindicates our interpretation of the rumour, and confounds those who insist on accepting every Afghan rumour as gospel truth if only it can prejudice the Russians. But of all the unwilling crew is there one who has the grace this morning to confess his blunder and make amends? Not one."

A TELEGRAM from Deoghur states that on the 18th inst. an interesting ceremony was performed there. The high-priest of the Baidyanath temple, Pundit Sollajanund Ojah, went in procession, surrounded by Pundits, with great éclat, to the famous temple of Baidyanath, and offered prayers to God to secure peace between England and Russia. The deity was invoked in eloquent terms by the high-priest to shower his blessing upon the Queen-Empress, Mr. Gladstone, Lord Dufferin, and Sir Rivers Thompson. The scene was most impressive, religious fervour being depicted in every face. After the ceremony was over, the high priest distributed alms to the poor for the welfare of the British Government.

THE death is announced of a certain Bashir-uddin, son of Shookur-ulla, who was one of the 44 children of Tippoo Sultan. The deceased is styled in the native papers a Mysore Prince, but the Pioneer says he can only have been an illegitimate descendant, since Tippoo had but one legitimate son, Mohi-ud-din, and two daughters. If Shookur-ulla was one of the sons who were deported to Vellore after the settlement of 1799, the deceased Bushir-uddin would have witnessed the Mutiny there at the respectable age of 17, for he died being 96 years old.

THE energy with which the Reserve movement has been taken up in Calcutta has, thanks perhaps to the restrictions imposed, in no way diminished the popularity of the Volunteer Corps. The Daily News mentions that the corps has secured a large number of recruits since the close of the last drill season, which ended on the 31st March. A Company has gained no less than thirty-six new members, so that it will return this year to something like its former position in the corps. The Mounted Company, too, has several recruits, and F Company is now 100 strong. The recruits are not "paper men," either; but are hard at work, in spite of the warm weather, qualifying themselves to take their places in the ranks when the drill season proper commences.

OUR postal thieves are growing in cunning. The Lahore paper mentions that a short time ago a reverend gentleman in Lahore received a letter from Mussoorie, which should have contained a Rs. 1,000 currency note; but, on the letter being opened, the note was missing. He promptly stopped payment at the banks and Currency Office: and, almost as promptly, the missing note was presented at the counter by a Mahajan of the city. Questioned as to how he had become possessed of the note, he explained that it had come to him by post from Mussoorie, which in itself was suspicious; and on being requested to produce the forwarding letter, it was found that the serial number quoted did not at all correspond with that of the note he had presented for payment. The matter was placed for inquiry in the hands of Mr. Warburton, the detective. After a deal of labour, he ascertained that two letters, each containing a Rs. 1,000 currency note, had been posted at Mussoorie—one addressed to the reverend gentleman, and the other to the Mahajan; and that by some mysterious means the Mahajan's note had been abstracted, and the clergyman's substituted: the letters in their altered condition being sealed up again and forwarded to their destinations. Suspicion fell on a postal peon; which were rather confirmed on his house being searched, and a considerable sum of money being discovered on the premises. Mr. Warburton's theory is, that the peon had opened both letters, had appropriated the Mahajan's note, and had substituted the other, for the purpose of putting the police on a wrong scent; thus gaining time for the encashment of the appropriated note, if not defying detection. The peon has been arrested, and is to be charged with the theft.

AN up-country paper writes:—The Deputy Commissioner of the Sambalpur District in the Central Provinces was met, when entering a village one morning, when the sun was high, by a torch-light procession. Being somewhat puzzled he inquired whether the superfluous illumination was in honour of some local deity unusually anxious for light, or whether it was only an outburst of local loyalty in his honour some ten hours before its time. He was gravely informed that the people of the village considered the torch-light necessary to guide him through the darkness which had overshadowed them under English rule. Of course he asked—as he was meant to ask—what tangible proof they had to give of this darkness that could be felt at midday. And it then transpired that a neighbouring village headman had cut and carried timber from forest-land which the torch-bearers regarded as peculiarly their own. The guileless villagers were wise in their generation. Their ingenuity and the outlay of an anna or two on oil saved them a 15-miles' journey for the purpose of getting a petition written; the payment of writing fees (an amount which is too often well worth saving); and a further long journey to present the petition, to say nothing of the superiority in point of force of complaint by tableau over the everyday arzi.

THE Pall Mall Gazette explains that there was rather an important mistake in the first version of General Komaroff's latest telegram. According to the correct translation, in speaking of the order not to take Penjdeh, General Komaroff said:—"As I only communicated it to the commanders of the outposts it was not generally known." According to the first incorrect version General Komaroff said: "As I was commanding the advanced post only, I did not publish it for general information." The difference is material. His chief of the staff apparently did know it until the 28th.

OUR St. Petersburg Ambassador is much to the fore just now. Here is a good story anent Sir Edward Thornton for which the Pall Mall Gazette says it can vouch. At a Washington reception a young gentleman said to a rather imposing-looking man: "Good evening! glad to see you—we have not met since we parted in Mexico." The person thus spoken to coldly replied, "I fear you have the advantage of me." "Why, surely!" exclaimed the mortified young fellow. "You don't seem to remember me." "To tell the truth, I have never been to Mexico." "Are you not Sir Edward Thornton?" "No, I am Judge Poland, of Vermont." A few nights after this rebuff the young man happened to be at another party, and seeing the judge made up to him. After a little desultory conversation he ventured to say, "That was an awful blunder of mine the other evening to take you for old Thornton." "And whom do you take me for now, may I ask?" "Why, you told me you were Judge Poland, of Vermont." The reply was crushing—"On the contrary, sir, my name is Thornton!"

INSOLVENT DEBTORS' COURT.—MAY 20.

(Before the Hon. Mr. Justice PINHEY.)

THE following among other matters were heard before his lordship:—

RE PALLONJEE PESTONJEE GALLIWALLA.

Mr. Branson, on behalf of the insolvent, applied for an interim order, which on a former occasion was refused by Mr. Justice Bayley. The grounds of opposition filed by Buchoobai, widow of Rustomjee Merwanjee Jarookhanawalla, could not be considered until the court was in possession of all the facts of the case. The present application, the learned counsel said, might well be granted, and the grounds of opposition be allowed to stand over till the hearing.

Mr. Jardine, for Buchoobai, widow, opposed the application.

Mr. Branson, after some discussion, suggested that no order should be made at present, and that the matter should stand over until Mr. Justice Bayley sat again.

Mr. Jardine remarked that, if the suggestion was acceded to, the application should be dismissed, with costs.

The judge said the application was an unwarrantable one, and that the insolvent had apparently tried to take advantage of Mr. Justice Bayley's absence. There were no new grounds to support the application, and it must be rejected, with costs.

RE LILLADHUR KESSOWJEE.

The Hon. Mr. Budroodin, on behalf of the insolvent, the son of Kessowjee Jadowjee, a wealthy Bhattia merchant, applied for an interim order. Insolvent had already suffered six months' imprisonment at the suit of Abdool Rajak, a horse dealer. Two affidavits had been filed against the insolvent, but no copies had been furnished to the counsel on record. It was alleged that the insolvent had been recklessly contracting debts; but the argument told more against the creditors, who with their eyes open readily gave credit to a man who, they knew, had no means of his own, and who was under considerable pressure to bear on his father to pay down the money.

The judge.—Do you think a profligate son is justified in imposing on the father?

Mr. Budroodin.—He was granted Rs. 86,000 out of the total debts, Rs. 1,50,000, were apparently without consideration. The real debts were therefore Rs. 64,000, against which there were ornaments, &c., valued at Rs. 15,000 and Rs. 15,000 from the late insolvent from his father. While in jail, the insolvent was on the 1st August, 1884, struck with paralysis; and Dr. G. Y. Hunter, the officer in charge of the jail, stated in a medical certificate that the insolvent's detention was not unlikely to be attended with serious consequences.

The judge.—Insolvent seems to have had a taste for horses, and for women.

Mr. Jardine went further and read several items from the schedule, all pointing to reckless extravagance. One of the items was Rs. 3,000 for fruit supplied to the insolvent.

His lordship said that the insolvent became involved in pecuniary difficulties in that he, through ignorance and inexperience, bought horses for selling again, and that he took horses to the race-course and backed them, and lost.

Mr. Jardine mentioned that one item of debt was Rs. 800, due to the National Bank in respect of a carriage which insolvent ordered out from England and after it was sold to him, refused to accept it. Messrs. Bolton and Co., Thorpe and Co., Dunnett and Co., Grant and Son, Messrs. Bomonjee and Hormusjee, solicitors, some hotel proprietors, and others. Another extravagant item was Rs. 15,000, for wines and other articles to Arab merchants.

Mr. Budroodin would not say that his client was a paragon of virtue. He had been guilty of no fraud; the most that could be alleged against him was that he had been guilty of folly.

The judge said the ground urged by the opposing creditors in their affidavit was that, if the insolvent was let out of jail, he would surely disappear, and they were thus deprived of the means of relief. The insolvent had no doubt been guilty of reckless extravagance; and he had dealt largely in horses and had gone in for betting, although he had his allowance of Rs. 1,000 per month, in addition to his father for occasional contributions of money. In 1883 he signed promissory notes for Rs. 7,500, and received only Rs. 1,000 thereon; and in 1882-83, he signed promissory notes for Rs. 15,000 and only realization of Rs. 3,000 only. This was most reckless conduct; and the insolvent was not entitled to the indulgence of the court or the sympathy of anybody. As regarded the state of his health, the medical certificate showed that he was in jail in the best place for him; but it was not stated that the atmosphere of the jail would be particularly unfavourable to his complaint. The application for an interim order was refused, with costs.

RE NURSEY KESSOWJEE.

The Hon. Mr. Budroodin, for the insolvent, applied for an interim order for four months, with leave to give the schedule. The case was ripe for hearing, but must come on in its turn. The application was granted.

RE MADHOWJEE VISRAM.

Mr. Mankar, for the insolvent, applied for a rule nisi for a final discharge in the nature of a certificate, which was granted.

RE DEWCURN DEWRAJ AND ANOTHER.

Mr. Mankar, on behalf of the insolvents, applied for leave to withdraw the petition. A rule nisi was granted.

RE HURRIDAS SOONDERDAS.

Mr. Mankar applied for a rule absolute for withdrawal of the insolvent's petition. The application was granted.

RE TAPIDAS CAWNDAS.

Mr. Dhairyavan moved for leave to amend the schedule and to serve notices; and the application was granted.

RE WILLOUGHBY LE GEYT.

Mr. Mankar, for the insolvent, applied for a personal discharge. A Mazagaon creditor appeared to oppose; and the case was transferred to the opposed list, the insolvent being granted an interim order in the meantime.

RE DR. BALKRISHNA SUCCARAM.

Mr. Mankar, for the insolvent, applied for an interim order. The judge remarked that Mr. Mankar's client had been an insolvent eight times. As there was no opposition, an interim order was granted.

RE PUNDERNATH MAKANJEE.

Mr. Mankar, on behalf of the insolvent, asked for a month's postponement of the hearing, as there was a hope of a compromise being come to. The application was granted.

RE JAMES WALTER CRITCHELL.

Mr. Mankar, for the insolvent, moved for leave to amend the schedule and to serve notices; and the application was granted.

DISCHARGES.

The following insolvents were granted discharges:—Darasha Dorabjee Chinoy, liabilities Rs. 1,783. Hurjivan Bukajee, Rs. 458. Ratna Luximan Bhatia, Rs. 1,605. Mansilal Kishandas and others, Rs. 633. Pandurang Kessowjee Kale, Rs. 2,589. Kustna Manajee Bawut, Rs. 1,162. Balla Ramjee Vani, Rs. 730. Hurry Dhondoo Ghorpado, Rs. 432. Fatmabai, woman, Rs. 3,081. Ezekiel Manaseh Ezekiel, Rs. 2,878. Goolam Hoosein Vali, Rs. 531.

TORPEDO WARFARE.

DURING the past few months a series of noteworthy articles on torpedoes and torpedo-vessels have appeared in the Revue Politique et Littéraire, in the Nouvelle Revue, in the Journal des Débats, and the Temps; and it would certainly appear that, in opposition to the views of the chief Admiralty officials and the Temps, the writers in favour of torpedoes and torpedo-craft, as opposed to ironclads, have by far the best of the argument. The best summary of this view of the subject is to be found in two papers by "Un Ancien Officier de Marine" in the Nouvelle Revue. There is, of course, no attempt to disguise the fact that all calculations and criticisms are made with special reference to a war with England. The frankness of the writer in this respect leaves nothing to be desired. But for years past the principal scientific officers of Germany, Austria, Russia, and America have been of opinion that naval warfare, as the author of the articles in the Nouvelle Revue states, has been revolutionized by the torpedo and the swift torpedo-launch.

Here is an imaginary sketch of a combat between a torpedo-launch and a first-class iron-clad. The ironclad keeps a good lookout, and sees the torpedo-launch. On board the ironclad all are at their posts with every light gun trained and ready. The flag is run upon the ironclad; the torpedo-launch sees it is that of the enemy, and runs for the same flag. The ironclad is still in doubt. A shot decides the question: the torpedo-launch, in place of stopping, steams away at the rate of twenty knots an hour. When at a safe distance it regulates its speed by that of the ironclad; and so far away that it is almost invisible, awaits nightfall. Then the ironclad sweeps the horizon with its electric light, keeping a sharp look-out for its antagonist; but the ironclad itself is a conspicuous object to those on board the torpedo-launch. Fast as it may steam, it can never hope to clear itself of the launch. When the chance also have arrived the ironclad of hitting so small a mark moving at such a pace? At length the boat gets within two hundred yards and sends off its torpedo. According to recent experiments, three out of five of the Whiteheads may be expected to strike their object; and then the ironclad is either crippled or sinks. Even supposing that the torpedo-boat also goes to the bottom; how small a comparative loss is that of £20,000 and some fifteen men to that of £800,000 and 400 men! Such a combat, says the writer, is by no means imaginary. No protection on board the ironclads—not even wire netting, which greatly reduces speed—will, according to these French authorities, avail against torpedoes in the long run. Not even a small rival fleet of torpedo-boats will suffice to secure a great ironclad against an inferior force of torpedo-boats. "Ironclads in time of war are condemned to inability to sail in European waters for which they were designed. Better, therefore, give them up altogether." This will strike most people as far too sweeping a measure.

But the torpedo-craft are swift, dangerous, and valuable as they are—are not pleasant habitations. Consequently there must be two crews for each craft. In this way, a cruise of indefinite length, assuming that there is no enemy to be met, is still doubtless match torpedo-boat against torpedo-boat," with the result that in a few days the Channel would be swept clear of the flags of both nations except those on torpedo-craft themselves. For the French notion is that these torpedo-boats will render it impossible for any English merchant-vessel to sail up the Channel. It will be a war, not of fleets, but of these swordfish of maritime warfare against the commercial marine.

Of the cruiser which should take torpedo crews and torpedo-craft, together with coal enough to supply her and them, the writer in the Nouvelle Revue gives the principal requisites as follows:—"Fast, with a ram, large coal-carrying capacity, protection of vital parts, a small crew, powerful torpedoes, guns of moderate calibre, revolver-cannon, and sails to save coal. All these qualities are recognised as existing to the highest degree on board the Esmeralda built in England but not for our navy; the Sfax is the only French vessel which at all fulfils the requirements, and she is not yet ready. A sailing cruiser, the sole-going torpedo-vessel, the auxiliary crushing torpedo-ship of the Esmeralda type, and transports for time of peace. In war-time no transport of troops will be possible in face of torpedo-boats with twenty knots an hour, thirty knots and capable of steaming a thousand miles at twelve knots. As to a naval engagement, the question is asked how many ironclads would escape the quadruple danger of ramming, heavy shells, torpedoes from the hostile ironclads, and to pedoes from the torpedo craft? Will the victory be with the greater number of ironclads or the greater number of torpedo-boats? With the latter, says the "Ancien Officier de Marine," there is no need to demand that ironclads shall be built. In place of ironclads, swift cruisers of from eighteen to twenty knots, and at least 400 torpedo-vessels of about 50 tons each, should be built at once, capable of running over twenty knots and discharging torpedoes of the highest weight of explosive. The success of the torpedo-vessel, however, depends upon the skill of those who handle it; and it appears that the French have not yet trained to the full what skill does than we have. Yet, if France needs 400 torpedo vessels of the first class, we need at least 1,200, instead of the ten a year promised by the Admiralty. If torpedo warfare is, as many naval officers believe on this and on the other side of the Atlantic believe, to be the naval warfare of the future, the sooner we set to work in earnest at Esmeraldas, and seagoing torpedo-craft of all sizes, the better. A Madras Officer writes with a mind inflamed against England, and his judgments are biassed by his feelings. That is very evident; but we should not altogether neglect such warnings as we may find in the following sentences:—"What will England be able to do when hundreds of torpedo-craft plough the sea, having only one object: to find out the merchant-ships and send them to the bottom, followed by them in every direction at the rate of at every anchorage, wherever boldness can strike a blow? Vessels freighted with untold wealth will disappear by hundreds. The English flag will be trampled to the ground, and the disaster itself an immense disaster for a nation whose resources are the carriers for the whole world. . . . . England will topple down like a house whose walls are crumbling at the very foundation."

So far, to be forewarned is not, with us, to be forearmed; although we have far greater resources for the production of Esmeraldas and torpedo-craft than any European nation, and perhaps than all of them together. Germany (which has hitherto known herself alive to modern exigencies), Russia, and even Austria, are paying more attention to torpedo-vessels than we are; and we believe the fact to be that, while Russia has nearly seventy torpedo-boats at command, Great Britain has not twenty.—St. James's Gazette.

SOME AFGHAN WORTHIES.

ONE of the most prominent "men" at the Afghan Court at the present time is the British Agent Sirdar Mahamed Afzul. His portrait was given in the Graphic of June 24, 1882. He was orderly officer to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, and returned with the Prince to England. His visit to England did not spoil him, for he is a man of the same humble spirit as ever, although his deeds of bravery would fill a page of the Army List, and his line of ancestry a column of Burke's Peerage. Afzul Khan belongs to one of the best Cabul families. His father was Minister to the Cabul King Shah Shujah in 1839. His brother Aslam now commands the Afghan regiment of the British service in charge of the Khyber Pass. He has been our Agent at Cabul ever since we placed the present Ameer, Abdurrhaman, on the throne. The presence of the Ameer at the Viceroy's durbar at Rawul Pindi may be regarded as one of the happy results of Afzul Khan's conciliatory conduct at Cabul Court. For the last three years all the British negotiations with the Ameer have been filtered through the honest fingers of Sirdar Afzul Khan, C. S. I. In the Mutiny of 1857 this Afghan gentleman saved the life of a British officer at the risk of his own, and among the many souvenirs of friendship which he possesses there is none he values more than a handsome sword which bears the following inscription, in both English and Persian:—"Presented to Rasaidar Sirdar Mahomed Afzul Khan Bahadur, 11th (Prince of Wales's) Bengal Lancers, by Captain Armstrong, whose life he saved on September 18, 1857, when engaged in action against the mutineers at Murad Fugger." As Afghan affairs develop we shall hear more of the doings of this brave Afghan, who has so worthily represented Britain at the Afghan Court. He was one of the native assistants selected by Sir Lepel Griffin, when that officer was commissioned by Lord Lytton to raise up a king for Afghanistan. The question lay pretty much in this way, "Shall Yakoob Khan, who stood still when our Embassy was massacred, or shall we take up Ayoub Khan who gave us a thrashing at Maiwand, or shall we take the trump card out of Russian hands and play Abdurrhaman?" It is said Afzul Khan warmly favoured the restoration of Yakoob. Then who was the king maker? Not the Afghan of noble lineage, but the son of an Afghan farmer in the valley of Peshawur. It was Ibrahim the policeman, who made Abdurrhaman king. Unconnected with any noble family, this man had no interests to serve. To quote his own words, he looked at the coming man with the "eye of a detective." He thought he saw in Abdurrhaman's face intelligence, power, the solution—a man for desperate deeds. "That is your man," he said, and Sir Lepel Griffin had the good sense to act on the advice of this fine old servant of Government, or as he is now called among his own people, Ibrahim Khan, is a distinguished member of the Peshawar police force, in which he now occupies a high position. He is a native of the village of Hoti. When the Prince of Wales visited India, Ibrahim Khan was made responsible for the Prince's life. His instructions were to never lose sight of the Prince. And from the time His Royal Highness landed at Bombay until he left the shores of India this faithful Afghan accompanied him. The devotion of such men as these to the English cause is very remarkable when we remember how much the Afghans have suffered at our hands. The fact is that almost every member of the British nation among the Afghans comes to hopeless grief. Thus Mahomed, whose eldest son annihilated a British army, rose to the position of a great Ameer. Ayoub, who gallantly fought us at Maiwand, is now second favourite in the running for the Ameership. While, on the other hand, Shere Ali, the Wali of Candahar, who accepted a present from an Indian Viceroy, is a mere refugee in Sindh; Yakoob, who accepted a British Agent, is a State prisoner; and Wali Mahomed Khan, who submitted to us at the conquest of Kuram, is a pensioner at Peshawur. No wonder the Afghans say, "Save us the English." There is a well-authenticated story told of the Wali of Candahar. This man's name was Shere Ali, but he had little or no connection with the Ameer of that name. When Government decided to send a subsidy to Shere Ali was selected as "Wali or Ameer of the province. Of his appointment General Sir Donald Stewart tells the following amusing story:—"The General was instructed to make over to the new ruler the Province of Candahar on special conditions, and a prominent feature in these conditions was that the new ruler should deal leniently with all those chiefs who had only partially espoused his cause. I want to be given a district, I want to be made a magistrate, C. I. want to receive a pension, I want to remain near the ruler's person, and so on. "Well," said Shere Ali, "you English people are a wonderful race, and no doubt you are right. But if I acted on my own judgment, I should imprison A, outlaw B, poison C., and decapitate D. But I will endeavour to do as the great Government desires, and will write to you I owe the gift of the Kingdom." The rebellion in Candahar is a matter of history, and Shere Ali is now a British pensioner at Kurrachee

THE INTELLECTUAL CHARM OF WAR.

IT must, we fear, be admitted (writes the Spectator) that, except with a very few men upon whom the feminine side of Christianity—the side which preaches resignation—has taken a strong hold, or who realise with painful thoroughness the horrors inseparable from battle, war, as such, has for cultivated mankind a distinct intellectual charm. It attracts them as nothing else does, until in its presence they cannot turn their eyes away, and every other subject of thought becomes comparatively insipid, and this even if the war is not one in which they are personally concerned. Of course, if they are, their absorption is easily explained. The results of a war are so tremendous and far-reaching, they affect all interests so deeply, and they may involve the future of a country so inextricably, that it is impossible for men who have any patriotic or political imagination at all not to study its progress, and even its minute details, with concentrated attention. One big blunder in war may prostrate a nation. Even when, as is rarely the case, invasion is out of the question, the incidents of a campaign, the conduct of the troops, the capacity or imbecility of the Generals, become matters of personal and vital interest, over which it seems a pleasure beyond all others, a defeat a cruel and individual catastrophe. Men's interests, their hopes, their virtues, their foibles, and their fears are so involved in a war in which the nation is engaged, that every turn of fortune is an event of personal moment, and the excitement becomes as intense as if the onlooker were himself engaged. Men have been known to go mad with joy after a great victory, and to sicken mortally of the grief produced by a great defeat, and this in cases when, as it turned out, neither victory nor defeat lingered long in the general memory. There is nothing to be explained in that kind of madness; but the excitement of war is sometimes much further than this. Wars which are not ours interest us nearly as much as wars which are. Scores of thousands of Englishmen followed the great American Civil War with an interest which missed no detail; and the European world watched the duel between France and Germany with a gaze which was almost painful in its intensity of watchfulness. The journals, which always reflect the popular curiosity better than the popular thought, were full of nothing else; and the excitement was felt as keenly by men ordinarily devoted to study as by men who had been soldiers, or—a curiously common case in a nation so devoted to civil pursuits—were soldiers by inner prepossession. It is usual to ascribe this attraction to unconscious self-interest, a desire that one or the other side should win; but we do not think that has very much to do with the matter. The onlookers in a war take sides, no doubt often enthusiastically, and with a persistence which it is not easy to explain; but it is not because of their hopes or fears that they become so absorbed. They are hardly less attracted by the wars of history, which they ought to regard without passion; and there may be keen excitement, though they fail to decide which side they wish to win. The English people in the Franco-German war swerved in sympathy from one side to the other; but they watched Gambetta and Cuanzy with as much interest as they had watched Bismarck and Von Moltke. Moreover, invisible wars, though they may strongly affect the interests of men, do not exercise this attraction. The war waged by France in Tonquin has hardly been watched at all, while the two great Chinese wars of our day have hardly received anything beyond casual mention, and never, even when in progress, excited the slightest popular attention. Yet the war in Tonquin was in many respects the most important Colonial war of our time; and the two Chinese wars were, in the strangeness of their incidents and their awful consumption of human life, among the phenomenal occurrences of the century.

We suspect the truth to be that it is the variety of the excitements offered by war which, when the details are visible, so rapidly diffuses interest in them through classes the most diverse or far apart. Some

CHOLERA PILLS

CERTIFICATES.

DEAR SIR,—I have much pleasure to give this my written testimony as to the great value of your Cholera Pills. My second daughter aged six, got cholera about 4 a.m. on the 20th August, 1881. As I had no faith on the allopathic system in the treatment of this disease, I would not call in Dr. Rahim Khan, Khan Bahadur, my family medical adviser, but cause the child to be treated by my friend Babu Jagdish Sen, an amateur homœopathic practitioner of some repute. The disease rapidly took a serious turn ; no medicine would avail, and about 7 in the morning the child was in the collapse state. Dr. Birj Lal Ghose, Rao Bahadur, who out of friendship came to see me at that moment, pronounced the case hopeless. At this critical time some friends who had gathered round me advised me to try as a last resource your Pills which had earned a name by curing some neighbouring patients. You were kind enough to come over without delay, and the medicine administered about 8½ a.m. Purging and vomitting ceased almost immediately after, but no other sign of improvement was apparent till the evening. I strictly followed your injunction, and gave the child nothing but what you had directed. Dr. Birj Lal once more came in the afternoon and was still incredulous. But thank Heaven, the child gradually rallied, and was pronounced out of danger by the next morning. Your medicine was not given a second time, though the sago diet and the boiled medicinal water were continued for three days together. The child passed a natural stool on the fifth day, the first time since she was out of danger.

I firmly believe that your pills are wonderfully efficient in cholera. As you would not charge anything for them or your attendance, even your enemies cannot ascribe to you unworthy motives for administering the same.

Accordingly I am always ready to give my testimony for what it is worth, and you are at liberty to use this letter in any way you please.

Wishing you well,
Yours faithfully,
Lahore College, 19th April, 1882.

The experience of nearly thirty years proves that
S. ROSE AND CO'S
SYMPATHETIC GRAND SQUARE PIANO
is, par excellence, the best suited for the climate of India.

WE GUARANTEE EACH PIANO. { "This piano was awarded a first-class certificate and medal of the Calcutta Exhibition." } WE GUARANTEE EACH PIANO.

S. ROSE & Co., have supplied many hundreds of their noted Sympathetic Grand Square Pianofortes to residents in all parts of India. No one instance has occurred of a "Sympathetic" having given way ; of course the action and mechanism will wear ; but S. ROSE & Co., have seen "Sympathetics" which, after twenty years' use, have, after the entire action has been renewed, been as rich and beautiful in tone as when quite new.

All parts of the instrument have been studiously cared for in the manufacture ; the external case being of solid mahogany, with ornamental fret work at the openings. In regard to tone and touch it is a first-rate instrument.

The term "Sympathetic" was first used to designate the character of tone. The term has been made use of by others without scruple, and many purchasers have paid for "Sympathetics" of a most doubtful quality, and which are not entitled to the name ; but are merely inferior imitations.

LOCKYER'S SULPHUR HAIR-RESTORER will darken grey hair, and in a few days completely bring back the natural colour. The effect is superior to that produced by an instantaneous dye, and does not to ure the skin.

LOCKYER'S SULPHUR HAIR-RESTORER is the best for restoring grey hair to its former colour. It produces a perfectly natural shade, and is absolutely harmless. Recommended for destroying scurf and encouraging growth of new hair.

LOCKYER'S SULPHUR HAIR-RESTORER.—No other hair-dressing is requisite. Large Bottles, 1s. 6d. Sold by Chemists, Hair-dressers and Perfumers in London, and throughout the world. Lockyer's is equal to any of the high-priced preparations. Sold by TREACHER & Co.

SULPHOLINE LOTION.—An External Means of CURING SKIN DISEASES. There is scarcely any eruption but will yield to "Sulpholine" in a few days, and commence to fade away even if it seems past cure. Ordinary pimples, redness, blotches, scurf, roughness, vanish as if by magic ; whilst old, enduring skin disorders that have plagued the sufferer for years, however deeply rooted they may be, "Sulpholine" will successfully attack them. It destroys the animalcule which cause these unsightly, irritable, painful eruptions, and always produces a clear, healthy, natural condition of the skin. "Sulpholine" Lotion is sold by Messrs Chemists. Bottles, 2s. 9d. Made by J. PEPPER and Co., London. Sold by TREACHER & Co.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC strengthens the nervous and muscular system, improves digestion, animates the spirits, recruits the health. For debilitated health from the effect of hot climates, this tonic is invaluable.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC rouses and develops the nervous energies, enriches the blood, promotes appetite, dispels langnor and depression, fortifies the digestive organs. Is a specific remedy for neuralgia, ague, indigestion, fevers of every kind, chest affections and wasting disease, scrofulous tendencies, &c. The whole frame is greatly invigorated by Pepper's Tonic, the mental faculties brightened, the constitution greatly strengthened, and a return to robust health certain. Bottles, 33 doses, 4s. 6d. ; next size, 11s. Sold by Chemists everywhere. The name of J. Pepper, Bedford Laboratory, London, must be on the label. There is no Tonic so certain in effect as Pepper's Quinine and Iron. It is strongly recommended to residents in India and the Colonies, and should always be kept ready for use in every case of fever or febrile condition. Sold by TREACHER & Co
